

Turning a Jot into an Entry

Your first thought is rarely your best thought. Readers strive to push their thinking.

Choose a post-it to write off of and think to yourself:

What kind of post-it is this (character, Plot, Author)

What emotion does it suggest (surprising, upsetting, confusing, important).

Let's turn this post-it into a question and then try to answer it.

Push past your first thought, get your brain to think deeper about this text.
